The Littlest Titan

Nela Corren

Leacan is the littlest titan in her family.

Her brother can lift a bigger stone than her.

She does her best to help around the house.

But someone is always stronger.

Even when she plays.

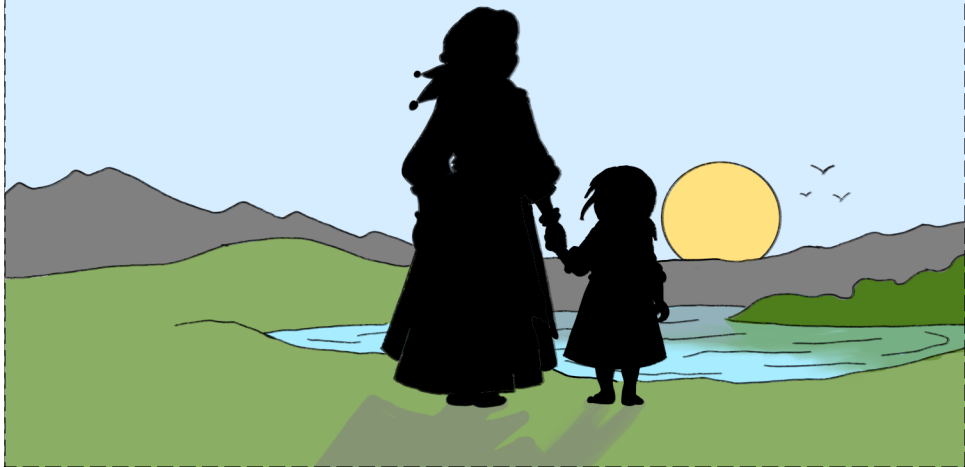
Someone throws farther.

Sometimes this makes her angry.

Oh no!

Very gently, very softly, she puts the nest back in the tree.

“My dear, strength isn’t only how much you can lift.”

“But I’m the littlest.” replied Leacan


“Yes,” said Mama. “You are.”
